Mrs. Laura Helen Garten, wife of Shell Garten of Pickering, died about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon at the home of her son, Robert Garten, on East Edwards street as the result of burns suffered at her home, one-half mile south of Pickering, Saturday, January 15.

Mrs Garten had placed some wood in a heating stove. Her dress was drawn in through a lower draft door, which stood open, and the dress goods ignited. She was burned severely from her knees to her breast and on her back and hands. The same evening she was brought to St. Francis hospital where she was under treatment for four weeks. A month ago she was removed to her son's home in Maryville.

No funeral arangements have been made.

R. L. McDougal Given Medal With Diamonds

Thirty-Eight Years Of Service As Agent Is Recognized By National Liberty Insurance Co.

R. L. McDougal, veteran, among Maryville insurance men, has been wearing since last week a handsome diamond studded gold service honor medal given to him by the National Liberty Insurance Co. in commemoration of his thirty-eight years of service.

The medal is of gold, representing in itself twenty-five years of service. Mounted upon it are two diamonds, each indicating an additional five years of service. The medal is appropriately engraved and was contained in a handsome case.

It is the plan of the company to add a diamond after each additional five years of service by Mr. McDougal. Only six agents in Missouri have won the recognition and Mr. McDougal has had the longest service of any of them.

The presentation of the honor medal was made by the company's vice-president, C. H. Coats, who came to Maryville from Kansas City.

Twenty-five broken-down chairs have been brought out of the storage room and Mr. Thorp has been busy making them stable.

M. H. S. AGAIN WINS DEBATE

CAMERON IS DEFEATED IN DISTRICT CONTEST.

WINNERS INTO FINAL

Maryville Girls to Contest for Championship Title at S. T. C.—Squad Off for Fulton.

Maryville High School, taking the negative side of the World Court question, won its debate here late yesterday afternoon over Cameron High School. The successful team will now be entered at the State Teachers College in finals to be held April 29. The winner of the final debate wins the Northwest Missouri championship and receives a silver cup.

Misses Cleo King and Cleola Dawson, composing the local team, made an exceptionally strong argument on the negative side of the question and were given credit by the judge, D. D. Dennis, of Tarkio College, for the use of good authority on the various questions. Maryville was the apparent winner long before the debate ended, as the judge indicated in his remarks before announcing the decision for the negative.

Both teams were at the top in delivery, but that counted but little in the decision.

Misses Dessa Mae Sweat and Francis Warner, of Cameron, had their material well at hand but were unable to refute the arguments of the Maryville debaters.

Both the negative and affirmative teams of the local school left this morning with L. L. St. Clair, principal of the high school, for Fulton, Mo., where they have been entered in the debate tournament given under the auspices of William Woods College. The first debate for Maryville will be at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon when the affirmative team, composed of Doris Wallace and Pauline Nichols, will meet the negative team of Columbia High School.

Harmony-Lock Springs Debate Is Postponed

The debate between Harmony and Lock Springs which was to have been held last night was postponed because the judge was unable to attend. The new date for the debate has not been set.

Elks Offer Basement for Boy Scouts' Use

The Maryville Elks Club will offer the use of the basement of the Elks building on Main street for the Maryville Boy Scouts troop to hold meetings, it was decided last night by the Elks.

For some time since the troop was organized, with the Rev. W. N. Dewar, scout master, and John G. Mutz and Chester Lyle, assistants, it has had difficulty in finding a place to hold meetings.

The troop has grown to thirty members of late. The first meeting in the Elks club will be a week from next Monday.

Emer Young to Be Trustee Candidate

Elmer Young, 923 South Main street, today announced his candidacy for nomination for trustee of Polk township. His name will be submitted to the Democratic convention here this Saturday.

Mr. Young is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Young of Maryville.

COLLEGE WINS FARM DEBATE

LOCAL TEAM DEFEATS CENTRAL ON McNARY-HAUGEN BILL.

JUDGES FOR NEGATIVE

Burdette Yeo And Fred Street Argue Measure Is Unnecessary and Inadvisable.

The State Teachers College negative debating team, composed of Burdette Yeo and Fred Street, defeated an affirmative team from Central College, Fayette, in a debate on the McNary-Haugen bill in the College auditorium this morning. The decision of the judges was two to one in favor of the Maryville team.

Central was represented by William Bidstrup and William Lessley. I. G. Morrison, teacher of public speaking at Central, accompanied the team to Maryville.

The debate was an interesting affair. All four of the speakers presented their arguments forcefully, and the audience was in doubt as to the outcome until the decision of the judges was announced. The judges were: Hubert Garrett, superintendent of schools at Quitman; Miss Essie Ward, a King City attorney; and Miss Frances Brown, teacher of public speaking at Palmer College, Albany.

Foreign Competition Cited.

In presenting the opening arguments for the affirmative, Bidstrup, traced the history of the McNary Haugen bill through its passage by Congress and veto by President Coolidge. He stressed the fact that the President recognized a certain need in his veto message.

Bidstrup pointed out that the American farmer is thrown into competition with foreign production, with which he cannot successfully compete. He spoke of Canada as virgin land and of the United States as a place where land is worn out by much cultivation. He also told of the contrast between cheap labor in Argentina and India as compared to that of this country.

"We have a great over-production of basic products in the United States and our elevators will not pay more than the world price for our surplus. There are two solutions: Eliminate or control the surplus," he said.

Then he explained that America's trade balance depends on a surplus of agricultural products, and that only by the principles of the McNary-Haugen or a kindred bill can a control be established.

Constitutionality Upheld.

The second speaker on the affirmative carried on Bidstrup's argument, stressing the fact that the principle of co-operation laid down by the bill is not new, that there is a lack of unity, strength, and interest in co-operatives in the United States, and that the principles of the McNary-Haugen bill have not and cannot be pronounced unconstitutional.

The speaker elaborated on the equalization fee, and then pleaded for relief for the situation.

"The purchasing power of the American dollar, an index to prosperity, is low," he shouted.

Calling the McNary-Haugen bill a radical measure, Street opened for Maryville by arguing that its principles are unnecessary.

"The present condition of American agriculture is only temporary," he said, and then he argued that the according to economic law the problem will naturally remedy itself.

Condition Improving.

His next point was that agricultural conditions are rapidly improving, for the gap between index prices of farmers' production goods and consumption goods is steadily narrowing; the net income of agriculture has increased; marginal and incompetent farmers are migrating to urban centers; and European and South American demand for American products is steadily increasing.

Yeo's main argument was that the principles of the McNary-Haugen bill are impractical and undesirable. He said that the measure would not better the farmers' condition because it would not increase the farmers' net income, and does not attempt to aid all classes of agriculture.

"The principle of subsidizing agriculture is impractical," Yeo contended. "The scheme is too vast an undertaking, too complicated, and too expensive." He then cited the instance of the sugar bounties of 1890 as a colossal failure.

"This policy of price fixing is un-American; it is class legislation," the Maryville debater cried.

Throughout his argument, Yeo used many illustrations. He took up all of the commodities cited in the McNary-Haugen bill. They are: corn, wheat, cotton, swine, rice, and tobacco.

Reach 150 Foot Depth on the Quitman Well

Spudding in on the oil well of the Quitman Gas and Oil Company, nine and a half miles northwest of Maryville, was completed last night, and the contractor, George Rose, expected to start actual drilling this afternoon.

This morning he was changing the manila rope cable from which the drilling bit is suspended.

A depth of 150 feet had been reached when operations were stopped to make the change.

HEARING SET FOR 10 A. M.

ASHBROOK TO BE GIVEN PRELIMINARY TRIAL TOMORROW.

CIRCUIT COURT ROOM

Arraignment to Be Before Judge J. H. Sayler—Twelve Witnesses Are Subpoenaed by the State.

The preliminary hearing for Tom Ashbrook of Burlington Junction, charged with the murder of his neighbor, Dewey Leonard, has been set for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The hearing will be before Judge J. H. Sayler, justice of the peace, in the circuit court room of the courthouse, Judge Sayler announced today.

An extended hearing is expected, as subpoenaes have been issued for witnesses to testify tomorrow.

Ashbrook has been confined in the county jail since the night of the killing, when he admitted firing the shots that killed Leonard late in the afternoon of March 2. Prosecuting Attorney George Pat Wright the next day filed first degree murder charges, and a coroner's jury at Burlington Junction recommended that Ashbrook be held for trial.

Cook & Cummins of Maryville have been retained to defend the defendant.

The witnesses who have been subpoenaed:

Mrs. Elizabeth Leonard, widow of Dewey Leonard; Oscar Teague, stepfather of Mrs. Leonard; Mrs. Bessie Teague, mother of Mrs. Leonard; M. A. Hahn, Berry Hann, undertaker, all of Burlington Junction.

Vern Dolph, town marshall of Burlington Junction; U. S. Reavis, deputy sheriff; Loren Anderson, Guy Johnson, W. W. Jones, Marion Minter, Burlington Junction, and Dr. F. C. Wallis of Maryville, county coroner.

Another Herald of Spring at Burlington

Flock Of Wild Geese Flies Over Town So Low That Color Of Feathers Can Be Discerned.

The Rev. J. Howard Thompson of Burlington Junction is quite sure that spring and seed planting time is not far away.

He reported that the citizens of that town were all astir Monday morning "when the sky was observed to be teeming with great flocks of wild geese on their northern flight."

"Many were flying so low," he said, "that the color of the feathers could be distinguished."

God and You

A LENTEN MEDITATION

By The Rev. Charles Stelzle

God can do no wrong.

This does not mean that every act of God must be right because He is God.

"Nothing can be good in Him which evil is in me," the poet wrote.

"Shall not the Judge of all the earth do right?" asked Job.

Sometimes the ways of God are mysterious, but He cannot be unjust.

There can be no good trait in us which is not found in God, only greatly multiplied.

And there are attributes of love and mercy infinitely greater than any we can possibly possess.

REED TO OPEN PROBE AGAIN

INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE IS CALLED FOR SATURDAY.

NOT OUT OF POLITICS

Senator Denies Reports He Will Soon Quit Public Life.—Discusses Farmers' Problem.

Washington, March 16.—Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, Missouri, in an interview with the United Press today, declared he had summoned the primary fund investigation committee to meet in Washington Saturday for the purpose of proceeding with the Pennsylvania inquiry.

Reed said he probably would not be able to muster the full committee but that he was of the opinion the alleged ballot frauds of two Pennsylvania counties should not rest until the next session of Congress.

"The investigating committee is a permanent body," Reed said. "Although my resolution was blocked during the final hours of Congress, the committee has authority to impound the questioned ballots and not wait until next session."

Reed also said he was willing to contribute $1,000 or perhaps more from personal funds to finance the impounding if necessary.

Not to Quit Public Life.

Dropping the Pennsylvania ballot discussion with the statement "We'll soon show them whether the committee is dead," Reed made it clear in no uncertain terms that he is not through with politics.

"I'm still in the swim and fighting hard," he declared.

It had been widely reported the Missouri senator had declared he would soon retire from public life.

"I won't run for the Senate again, but that doesn't mean I won't remain in public service," he added.

Mention of his possible presidential candidacy brought only a smile.

Legislation designed to aid the farmers is being carried along a futile and unfeasible line, Reed believes.

"The farmers don't need a governmental agency to dispose of their products," he declared.

Trouble in Exports.

"A great part of their troubles come from foreign exports. Under present conditions the farmer sends his products across at no greater profit than he sells them at home. Then when he buys imported goods, he pays a duty of 10 to 75 per cent."

Reed also declared a system should be worked out whereby the farmer could dispose of his products at the place where the surplus is located. This would greatly reduce his expenses the senator said.

The declaration that he is out of politics was made by Senator James A. Reed in an address at a banquet at Detroit Monday night, during which he assailed reform and crank bureaucracies, and asserted they are obtaining a strangle hold on the nation.

During the address, which was termed his farewell message in matters of public policy, the senator declared that the fight against these agencies would be left for others to carry on.

"I am out of politics, so I can speak impartially," he continued. "For twenty-five years I have fought the encroachments of the semi-Socialist, semifeudal idea that government and law, its outward symbol, are instituted and maintained for the purpose of directing the individual's conduct.

"Speaking as Citizen."

"Speaking as a citizen and from the background of my entire career in public life, I wish I could get a message to the American people with all the intensity of conviction possible that we are going to wreck this government and destroy this nation unless we get back to the principle upon which the Constitution was founded, the doctrine of an inalienable right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, the right of every man to realize his own ideal without infringement by any other man or set of men."

Reed at that time did not elucidate his statement that he is out of politics.

Kinney Bill Loses by Two Votes Today

Votes of Senators M. E. Ford and James S. Summers Might Have Saved Measure.

Jefferson City, March 16.—The Kinney bill, making it possible to nominate candidates for state offices and judges of the supreme and appellate courts by the convention system, was killed in the senate today on a reconsideration vote.

Friends of the bill were able to muster only 16 votes today. Eighteen were necessary for passage.

Senator James S. Summers of Jackson County, who favored the bill on engrossment, was out of the chamber when the vote was taken.

Senator M. E. Ford of Nodaway County, another supporter of the measure, did not vote.

The union labor is said to have made a fight on the bill.

SINCLAIR CASE GOES TO JURY

ONLY FIVE QUESTIONS TO DECIDE, JUDGE INSTRUCTS.

TO JAIL IF CONVICTED

Law Makes Sentence of One to Twelve Months Mandatory—Charged With Contempt.

Washington, March 16.—The Sinclair contempt of the senate case was sent to the jury today.

The jurymen are to decide if Harry F. Sinclair, wealthy oil operator and sportsman, is guilty of contempt of the Senate for refusing to answer questions by the Senate oil committee three years ago.

In case of a conviction, a jail sentence is mandatory, the law providing for a fine of from $100 to $1,000 and from one to twelve months in a "common jail."

Justice Hitt informed the jury it had but five questions to decide: Whether Sinclair was summoned before the oil investigating committee; whether he appeared; whether he was sworn; whether the questions were put; and whether he answered.

"The court charges you gentlemen," suggested Hitt, "that if you find all of these questions for your decision are true according to the evidence, then it is your duty under the law to find the defendant guilty."

An Imminent Break With Mexico Denied

U. S. State Department Expresses Hope of Settlement.—Tellez Silent on Way to Washington.

Washington, March 16.—Rumors of an imminent break between the United States and Mexico were countered by a State Department announcement today expressing hope that the dispute could be settled by negotiations.

Secretary Kellogg authorized a statement that there was no danger of war and that this government does not contemplate issuing an ultimatum.

The statement followed several weeks of State Department silence on the Mexican situation and apparent tension on the part of officials here.

Kellogg did not explain today what new factors were responsible for the present optimism, but department officials here clearly reflected the hope of peaceful settlement, expressed by Ambassador Tellez on his departure from Mexico for Washington several days ago.

Diplomatic observers were inclined to disparage any effort to over-emphasize the significance of today's statement at the department.

San Antonio, March 16.—Besieged by reporters when he made his first stop in this country en route to Washington, Manuel C. Tellez, Mexican ambassador to the United States, refused to comment on the diplomatic correspondence between the Mexican government and the State Department.

Tellez admitted he had conferred with President Calles.

WOULD OUST PRISON BOARD

REPORT OF SENATE COMMITTEE RECOMMENDS REMOVAL.

NINE REASONS GIVEN

Dr. Enloe Declared Dominating Influence of Loose, Unbusinesslike and Extravagant Management.

Jefferson City, March 16.—For nine specific reasons, the Senate investigating committee of the Missouri Legislature today recommended that the Enloe prison board be ousted and another installed in its place.

Senator Frank Hollingsworth, chairman of the committee, wrote the majority report and presented it to the upper house over the attempt of other members to call a vote for reappointment of members of the board.

After setting forth the nine specific reasons for their recommendation, the committeemen concluded their report by urging that the change be made immediately.

"All of the members of the board at this time should be released and a new board placed in charge," the report read. "Their joint and several administrations warrant no other conclusion."

Five Members Affected.

The five board members thus slated for removal are Dr. Cortez Enloe, penal director; William B. McGregor, farms commissioner; Leslie Rudolph, warden; A. H. Steinbeck, paroles commissioner; and T. C. Mosby, commissioner of industries.

The charges against the board, as they were incorporated into the majority report, are as follows:

1. That the charges made in the resolution for investigation have been sustained fully.

2. That Dr. Enloe was and is the dominating influence at the prison, and the other members of the board and heads of departments were mere tools.

3. That the management of the prison has been so loose, inharmonious, unbusinesslike, and devoid of proper attention as to amount in effect to a fraud upon the state.

4. That the management has been guilty of brazen and unbridled favoritism, resulting in great loss to the state, and violation of the statutes.

5. There is an utter lack of harmony among the board members.

"Era of Extravagance."

6. There has been an era of extravagance heretofore unknown in state affairs.

7. The board members are wholly unfit, not qualified or suitable for the grave responsibilities incident to the management of such an institution.

8. There exists between certain dominating board members and prison tractors a conspiracy to deprive the state of the honest and unbiased services of the board members; and to prevent the state from obtaining the advantages of honest, open, free and fair competition in purchases and sales.

9. The repeated refusal of the board to investigate the charges of misconduct and mismanagement openly and definitely lodged against it have wholly destroyed its usefulness and all justification for further confidence in it.

Yeggmen Loot Bank While Town Sleeps

Only Two Residents Of Billings, Mo., Awake Are Gagged and Tied; Posses in Search of Bandits.

Billings, Mo., March 16.—While Billings slept peacefully and after the only two persons awake in the town were securely bound with ropes, two yeggmen used three charges of explosives to blow open the safe of the Bank of Billings early today, escaping with approximately $5,000 in currency.

The robbers entered the town about 1:30 a. m., seized the night watchman and tied him to a chair. They then tied up the telegraph operator in the railroad station and proceeded to loot the bank.

When the operator and night watchman managed to release themselves, a posse was hurriedly organized and started after the robber car. No trace of the looters had been reported at noon today.

Weather

Cloudy and somewhat unsettled today; Thursday unsettled and colder.

"Make-Up" Produces Figure of Lincoln, Impersonator Explains

"It's a dummy."

"He's got a mask on. See, he doesn't even blink his eyes."

"Whee, he winked at me. He winked at me."

These and other comments are heard each afternoon before the window of the Yehle Dry Goods Co., where C. E. Marquis is giving daily impersonations of Abraham Lincoln.

The figure of Lincoln is neither a dummy nor does it wear a mask. The effect is achieved by the use of a "make-up" that requires more than two hours.

Marquis' face must be broadened and his nose enlarged and its shape changed. Weighing only 129 pounds, the impersonator represents a man who weighed 190 pounds. A large padded coat helps there. He is only five feet nine inches tall, but when he appears in the window he looks Lincoln's six feet four. The wigg adds one inch and he does a "body stretch," the impersonator said.

Mr. Marquis said it was unnecessary for him to build the Lincoln mole on the left cheek. This is a natural possession, he added.

His ears are filled with putty to increase their size. The Wig and whiskers help to improve the impersonation. Abraham Lincoln is the most difficult of all characters to impersonate, according to Mr. Marquis. He had many lines on his face and deep wrinkles. Those are impersonated by Marquis by protruding the lower lip and drawing the facial muscles to the necessary position.

A Mail Carrier's Experience with ISO-VIS

Mud was up to the hubs for miles—the car had to plough through on low—yet the motor was not heated—because the engine was lubricated with Iso-Vis. This experience is told in a letter received by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) from a rural mail carrier.

Charleston, Mo., Jan. 3, 1927.

Standard Oil Company, St. Louis, Mo.
Gentlemen:

I feel that I owe your Company a letter of praise for the perfect satisfaction your new oil Iso-Vis has given me. I am a rural carrier and the time I changed to this new oil, the roads were in the worst condition they have been in for years. I drove my car in first and second gear with mud up to the hubs for miles without heating my motor the least bit. I am also having a much easier time starting as the motor does not get stiff with Iso-Vis. I having been using Red Crown-Ethyl gas ever since it appeared in ourfilling stations here.

The two products make a splendid combination.

I am a satisfied customer.
Louis E. Edward, Rural Carrier No. 2

Thousands of letters of appreciation have come to the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) since Iso-Vis was put on the market—letters telling of actual experiences, like the one above.

A motor oil so extraordinary in the results it gives that people voluntarily sit down and write enthusiastic letters of praise to the Company who produced it is worth trying out!

Iso-Vis has revolutionized lubrication. It makes for easier starting—overcomes dilution troubles—and gives efficient lubrication every mile from the first to the thousandth! That is why enthusiasm over Iso-Vis is so general. Try it once and you'll see!

"Just as good" won't do with women shoppers

WOMEN, because they shop, have learned to distinguish values. Only by comparison have they learned of the wide difference in hosiery. They know exactly what they want and substitutes won't do.

So with coffees. Only by comparing their flavors can you choose the one coffee you like best. Then, it is easy to avoid substitutes by always calling for your favorite coffee by brand name.

We could tell you of the wonderful flavor and delicate aroma of Folger's Coffee. How you would enjoy each steaming cup of this blend of the world's finest coffees.

Instead, we ask you to compare Folger's Coffee with the brand you are now using by making the Folger Coffee Test. It is the logical, easy way to shop for coffee.

The Folger Coffee Test: Drink Folger's Coffee tomorrow morning; the next morning drink the coffee you have been using; the third morning drink Folger's again. You will decidedly favor one brand or the other. The Best Coffee Wins. That's fair, isn't it?

SOCIETY

Ninety and Nine Club.

The Ninety and Nine Club will meet at the Lasher school Friday night. Members of group A are to furnish fruit salad and group C, cake.

Westminster Guild.

Eighteen members attended last night's meeting of the Westminster Guild of the Presbyterian Church at the home of Mrs. J. W. Harper on East First street. Miss Lucille Brumbaugh was the assisting hostess. The devotions were in charge of Mrs. W. N. Dewar, and Mrs. W. H. Allen was the leader of the lesson. Refreshments were served during the social hour. Mrs. C. P. Fryer and Miss Margaret Davison will be hostesses at the next meeting April 5 at the Fryer home on West First street. Mrs. Karl Zimmerman will be study leader.

M. I. Circle.

Mrs. Robert Lyle was hostess at the regular meeting of the Mutual Improvement Circle yesterday afternoon. The hostess was the devotional leader and in answer to roll call, the members gave current events. The afternoon's program on "South America" was as follows: "Brazil and Its Inhabitants," Mrs. J. M. Hantze; "Resources," Mrs. J. J. Heifner; "Bolivia," Mrs. G. J. Moore. Miss L. Anna Owens gave as a special number a reading entitled "Mad Marie." Mrs. Louisa L. Catterson served as program critic. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. I. E. Tulloch March 29 when the third program on "South America" will be given.

Attend Reception for Mrs. Reeve.

Mrs. Albert H. Reeve of Philadelphia, national president of the Congress of Parents and Teachers, was the guest of the St. Joseph Council of the national congress at a reception yesterday afternoon in the crystal room of Hotel Robidoux. The following members of the Maryville organization attended the reception: Mrs. F. A. Bush, president of the local P.-T. A., Mrs. E. L. Wilson, state chairman of parent-teacher work in churches, Mrs. L. L. St. Clair, state chairman of work in colleges, Mrs. Hugh Strong, Mrs. J. C. Godbey, Mrs. Steve Donahue, Mrs. C. H. Withington, Mrs. W. A. Miller and Mrs. L. A. Myers. Mrs. Paul Campbell and Mrs. Fred Stalling of the Barnard P.-T. A. were also present. Miss Ruth Bush of Maryville was one of a group of girls who assisted in serving.

Mrs. Reeves spoke concerning the objectives of the national congress. These, she said, were based upon the seven cardinal objectives of education as determined by the National Educational association. They include: Sound health, worthy home management, mastery of the tools and technics of learning, useful citizenship, vocational effectiveness, wise use of leisure and ethical character.

"To fit the child for life," Mrs. Reeve said, "he must be trained on these seven points. It is not to be expected that the school teachers can do the work alone, but the parents of the children must co-operate and do their part in the home training. Members of the parent-teacher congress have a real responsibility and to attend the meetings of the organization must demand more and give more than mere sociability. Child-welfare is the basis for the work of the national congress."

Mrs. Reeves showed how the national program was but the program of each member, for it is based upon practice rather than theory. The program is arranged in the national convention which is open to every individual member. The national board merely acts upon the decisions of the entire convention, she said.

In explaining the first objective, Mrs. Reeve said that every child has a right to sound health habits. Mothers should see that their children are physically ready for the health program of the schools at the time they enter school. The pre-school work provides for this, she said.

Two National Officers Coming.

The organization which is to become Sigma Sigma Sigma is made up of members of Sigma Delta Chi, local sorority. Miss Nell Hudson, Miss Hettie M. Anthony and Miss Lucille Starr of the State Teachers College are the sponsors. The initiation ceremony will be held for twelve alumnae, twelve active and thirteen pledges. Miss Loretta Jones is chapter president. The installing officers will be Mrs. Homer Ball of Holden, Mo., national treasurer; Mrs. William Stryker of Parsons, Kan., national vice-president, Miss Stella Thompson of the Mu Chapter, Warrensburg, and Miss Viola Magee of the Nu Chapter, Kirksville.

Stillwell. There was a general discussion of economic conditions and industries in India. The committee on suggestive program for next year reported. The department will study China and neighboring islands with a continuation of current events. Several numbers on domestic science will also be arranged. Officers will be elected at the April meeting to be held with Mrs. C. H. Withington. Members of the nominating committee are Mrs. R. L. McDougal, Mrs. Harry Todd and Mrs. E. L. Wilson.

This and That

The shrubs around the library are bursting into bud.

There is no thrill like getting a piece of antique furniture that "everybody" was after.

"Spring has cub,"
The poet said,
As he asked for a derrick
To lift his head.

Familiar words to hubby: "I don't really need it, but it was just such a bargain I couldn't" etc.

Spring is here,
I feel so queer;
It's just like beer—
So far, yet near.

Telephone, telephone,
You ring and fairly shriek;
I think that I won't answer,
But it might be a shiek.

Spring has came. The men are whittling in the courthouse yard and the women are cleaning house. That's the way the Indians used to do. Let the women do all the work.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE. . . .

Death strikes GARRENTT FOLSOM while bathing at Ocean Town, N. J. After being perfunctorily examined by a doctor, the body is brought to the Hoted Majusaca, where an inquiry is started.

Folsom's bathing companions had been ROGER NEVILLE, MRS. BARNABY, and CARMELITA VALDIN. It is established that Folsom, just before his death, had been standing next to NED BARRON, known as the copper king.

Then the startling announcement is made that Folsom had been stabbed to death in the water. ROSS, his valet, is questioned, as are Barron and his wife, but no light is shed on the mystery.

ANASTASIA FOLSOM, eccentric and masterful sister of the dead man, arrives and takes command. At the inquest it is established that the death weapon was a pichaq, an Oriental knife, and that it and its scabbard had been purchased on the boardwalk.

Some suspicion attaches to one CROYDON SEARS, who is a collector of curious bladed weapons, and Anastasia asks TITUS RIGGS, an architect, to try to solve the murder.

It is also established that one CROYDON SEARS is a fancier of curious knives. Anastasie engages TITUS RIGGS, an architect, to work on the case. DAN PELTON, the dead man's nephew, arrives, and notices the curious French dolls in Garrett Folsom's room. He tells Titus Riggs he believes his uncle had been guilty of blackmailing a number of people, and together they go through Folsom's papers.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER 27

But it was a thankless task. Mostly the documents were of no great importance and of no evidently suspicious character. It was plain to be seen that Garrett Folsom had packed the lot while in Chicago and brought them to New York, to be attended to there.

For there were various matters that concerned New York business men, and some contracts and estimates that had to do with New York firms.

But of anything touching on a nefarious pursuit, or unlawful bribery or corruption, they found no trace.

That is, until the very last, when Dan Pelton turned the little suitcase upside down and gave it a final shake, and an inconspicious pocket in the lining flipped open. Out dropped a small memorandum book.

It was old and worn, and had evidently been hidden in the pocket purposely.

The two men pounced upon it and found it to be full of various notes and dates, which obviously referred to private matters.

"Whatever it's all about," Pelton said, "it's not meant for the general public. But many of the entries date back and many of the notes are crossed out. I fancy he had this book in use for years."

"Looks so," agreed Riggs, "but I can't see as it's going to mean much to us, unless we can make out who the people are."

"Well, here's one that seems familiar. Toward the last, note the initials C. R. S. And repeated several times."

"And who may C. R. S. be?"

"That's just it. He may be, possibly, Croydon Rochester Sears."

"Croydon Sears! Impossible! That man's white clear through. I don't know him very well, but I do know him, and I know nothing but good of him."

"That doesn't count, Riggs. If there was a black spot on his past, you wouldn't know it—but Garrett Folsom might have."

"Can you get head or tail to these notes about C. R. S.?"

"They are vague, and yet they are definite, too. Definite in expression, that is, though vague in meaning or allusion."

"Such as?"

"One says, 'C. R. S. Keep on tenterhooks.' Another, 'Screw a little tighter, but lightly.' And another, 'Refer to Secret, but lightly.' It seems to me such notes can only mean that uncle held a club over the head of Mr. Sears."

"Do you know Sears well?"

"Not so very. But I've known him in a general way for years. And I'd back him to the last ditch. His reputation is unassailable. But Uncle Garry may have known of some plot. Early indiscretion, or something. There's no use pretending uncle was perfect, just because he's dead."

"Pelton, you use the word blackmail with a careless touch. It's dangerous and uncertain game. More than in most ventures, if you push your victim too far, you come to a cropper yourself."

"Well, Garrett Folsom wasn't the man to come croppers. If that's the case, then I'll bet he never pushed a victim too far."

"He did—if he was murdered for doing so."

Pelton stared.

"Meaning, in plain English, the suggestion that he was hounding Sears about this 'secret' which unquestionably existed, and that in consequence, Sears bumped him off?"

"Meaning that it is certainly among the possibilities."

"Then, I say, as I said from the start, I'd rather let sleeping dogs lie, drop the investigation, and let the bones of Garrett Folsom rest in peace."

"The investigation will not be dropped!" cried a strident voice, and Miss Folsom stamped into the room. "I heard what you said, Dan, as I neared the door. And it's not up to you to say what shall be done. I engaged Mr. Riggs; he is working for me, and I forbid you to interfere in any manner!"

"Oh, come, now, Aunt Stasia," said Pelton, "you don't want to uncover a lot of stuff that would reflect on Uncle Garrett's character, do you?"

"Nothing like that CAN be unearthed! There is nothing in my brother's life that may not be shown to the light of day! Don't you suppose I knew my brother! And he has been murdered, and for some reason or other you are trying to hush things up! First thing you know you'll get yourself suspected!"

"Good Lord, auntie, how you do go on!"

Even in this serious situation Dan was amused, as he always was, at his aunt's vehemence.

"I'll thank you, Dan, to keep out of it all. You can't help, and if you could you wouldn't. Now take your finger out of the pie and leave the investigation to those who are capable of conducting it."

Her scorn, as shown on her haughty face, might have withered one less used to it, but it was old stuff to Dan Pelton.

"All right," he said, "but don't blame me when you find you have brought public ignominy and shame on the memory of the man you loved so well."

"What do you mean?"

He looked at Riggs and shrugged his shoulders.

"You see, madam," and Tite Riggs concluded frankness was his duty, "we've run across some notes and papers that seem to show Mr. Folsom had some people at his mercy."

"At his mercy? What do you mean by that?"

"That their reputations were at his mercy. That he knew their secrets and it gave him a hold over them."

"My brother knew the secrets of many people. He was the confidant and counsellor of many. If that gave him a hold over them it was the hold of gratitude and thankfulness for his assistance."

"Aunt, you're priceless! I think, Riggs, you'd better tell her all."

"Mr. Riggs will most certainly tell me all."

Miss Folsom's eyes began to glitter and her voice took on a dominating tone that had, nevertheless, Dan noted, a slight tinge of fear in it.

"Then, Miss Folsom, to put the matter in a few words, we have found some papers—"

"You told me that before."

"Some papers that indicate transactions or arrangements of a nature far from creditable to Mr. Folsom."

"Speak out more plainly. What are they?"

"I'll read you some, instead."

He opened the worn notebook and read:

"'F. L.: Positive of the perjury matter. J. N. S.: No doubt of the truth of K's report. T. C.: Have absolute proof of his guilt.'

"Now, I'm sorry to hurt you further, but on another page a series of large numbers would seem to indicate sums paid by these individuals, as the figures are opposite the initials we have noted, and the dates are consecutive—and recent."

"I think, Mr. Riggs, you read a meaning into those notes to suit yourself. I think, if truth were known, they represent the friends who, as I told you, consulted with my brother and he advised and helped them. The figures, of course, we cannot understand, but none of it is one iota of proof or even an indication that my brother had any unlawful hold over these people."

"I have not seen such great faith, no, not in all Israel!" murmured Pelton, who was fond of quotation.

"Be quiet, Dan," said his aunt. "Now, Mr. Riggs, you seem extraordinarily blind of facts, as you call them. If these are facts, I mean in the way you interpret them, then it is clear that my brother's murderer must have been one of these victims, as you put it, of his tyranny. If so, I want that man found and hanged, and I will accept the consequences of any opprobrium that may bring to my brother's name."

"Then you want me to go ahead and investigate these notes, if possible, irrespective of the outcome?"

"Go ahead, full steam!" declared Miss Folsom.

(To Be Continued).

Again the strange dolls that Garrett Folsom owned intrude on the mystery. What was their real significance?

HARMONY

Quite a force of the neighbors were helping J. F. Flanary reshingle his fine farm residence list Wednesday.

The rain of Friday spoiled all our good roads, but the sunshine of the first of the week caused a rapid improvement.

John Anderson dragged the roads between his residence and the church Tuesday of last week.

On account of the very muddy roads there were no services last Sunday. It is planned to have the song service next Sunday evening if the weather and bad roads do not interfere.

Miss Dorris McKee went to Maryville, Wednesday evening to see her pupil, Dorothy Ferguson, who has been in St. Francis for a minor operation. She had recovered so she came home the last of the week, and will be in her classes at school soon.

Rev. C. R. Green came to Parnell last Friday to conduct the funeral services of Mrs. T. A. Brashear at that place. He returned to his work at Farrar, Iowa, Friday evening.

E. R. Besco and family entertained the families of R. V. McKee and W. I. Lewis at a Sunday dinner, at their elegant new farm home.

B. K. Lewis was transacting business in Maryville last Thursday.

Fay Woodson Null spent the week end of vacation between the winter and spring terms at S. T. C., with home folks.

Considerable excitement was caused down in the Casteel corner last Saturday evening by a gang of bandits. Their suspicious actions led to an investigation and finally their car becoming stalled near Art Cravens, a company started out to apprehend them as an investigation disclosed stolen goods in their car. Fay Woodson Null ran across two of the bandits near the Walt Davis farm, and single handed, marched one ahead of him to the Davis residence, the other one escaping. He was taken in charge by Deputy Sheriff W. M. Cox, who turned him over to Sheriff Campbell. The car also was turned over to the sheriff. So far the other two members of the gang have not been apprehended.

School Notes

Harold Holt conducted a very successful orchestra rehearsal last Tuesday.

Neva King suffered from minor injuries when her pony fell with her on the road to school last Tuesday.

Our basketball boys, accompanied by coach Halley Ford went to Maryville last Thursday to take part in the tournament. They drew a bye the first day and lost their first game to the strong Holt team by a score of 38 to 12. Holt proved to be "runner up" in class B. Some of the boys remained till Sunday.

The ventilating jacket was placed on the stove at Common Sense and that school is now about ready for an inspection that will, we hope, place it on the list of "First Class" schools. It is planned to erect playground equipment soon. The teacher, Miss Leatha Lawson, and the patrons have worked hard for this improvement and deserve a great deal of credit for the effort they have made.

While dragging the roads last week John Anderson came in and put our tennis court in fine condition. Thanks, John.

Miss Neva King took part in the spelling contest at Maryville last Thursday. Spellers were present from 15 different counties, and girls predominated. First prize went to Holt County.

Reverends E. B. and Ida Cunningham were welcome callers at the High School Monday afternoon. Come again parson.

Lucile Lawson spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Ford, at her home near Orrsburg.

Basketball season is over, and preparation for track is now the order of the day.

Dora May Parent is a new member of our orchestra. She plays the violin.

The class in agriculture planted the first seds in the hotbed Monday.

Third quarter's examination Thursday and Friday.

PRAIRIE VIEW.

Marjorie and Joe Hall enrolled in school last Tuesday.

Those present every day last month were Basil, Eldon, Bonnie, Verlin and Leila Koger, Donald Blackney, Ora King, Jessie Snoderly and Marie Ulmer.

The average attendance last month was 13.275.

Marcel Ulmer was absent from school Friday.

Our community meeting will be next Friday night, March 18.

Otto Kluth hauled corn to Clearmont for Jay Meek Tuesday.

We want to thank the school board and the men who helped make our basketball court, for we certainly enjoy playing basketball.

The pupils in the agriculture class are keeping egg records for the month of March.

Burlington Junction

By J. Howard Thompson.)

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nicholas will soon move to their farm three miles southwest of town for the summer. Their son, Wayne, and his wife, will move into the home in town while they are on the farm.

Watch your dog. Rabies are not far away. Dogs have recently gone mad at Maitland, Graham, Clearmont and other near-by communities. Keep your eye upon him. After he goes mad and bites something or someone, the damage will have been done. The pet dog of the Methodist minister at Pickering recently went mad and had to be killed—watch your dog.

The Rev. W. F. Pitker was in town for a time, the guest of Rev. J. Howard Thompson, last Saturday afternoon. He is the pastor of the Methodist Church in Clearmont and Elmo. He was on his way to Elmo for his Sunday services.

Next week Friday will be the time for the entertainment to be given by the Girls Glee Club of Missouri Wesleyan College. There will be eighteen of the girls, and they will give a program of ensemble singing, solo singing, duets, quartets and readings. The entertainment will be entirely free to the public, but a silver offering will be asked for at the close of the program.

Dr. E. L. Robinson, district superintendent of the St. Joseph district of the Methodist Church, was in town Saturday night and Sunday. He preached in the morning at the Methodist Church and immediately after the sermon held the second quarterly conference of the Methodist Church. He went to Elmo for a Sunday night service.

Miss Bernice Manes returned to her home in Blanchard, Ia., Sunday morning after a few days' visit with her father, Frank Manes, and her brother, George, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Manes. She was called to the community on account of the death of her brother, Galen. She makes her home with her grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Boyles.

A rather unique and unusual thing happened at the Methodist Church Sunday morning relative to the Sunday school attendance. There were exactly the same number present as was present the Sunday before, and only 14 cents difference in the amount of the offering.

Mrs. Emma Taylor, who has been confined to her room, and for the most part to her bed, for the past year, suffering with cancer, is very weak at this writing. Her children are with her constantly, giving her all the aid and comfort possible.

After the rain and cold of Saturday and Sunday, the sky cleared and by Monday morning there was every evidence of clear and settled weather, with rising temperature. We are confidently expecting that the frosty nights will soon cease and the real spring weather will be here.

W. J. Alderman of Stanton, Neb., came last week, Friday, to visit his brother-in-law, Elisha Nicholas and family for a few days. Mr. Alderman was a former resident of Burlington Junction, having left here for his Nebraska home twenty-four years ago. He will return to his home the latter part of this week.

James Shores, who has maintained a garage in the Wright building for the past two years, is moving his stock to Clearmont and will open a garage in that town immediately. Mr. Wright, the owner of the building, will open a feed store at once in the building. Mr. Wright is moving over from Fairfax, and will occupy the home recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. J. G. House.

The plasterers are at work plastering the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Manes in the north part of town. As soon as they have finished their work, the carpenters will complete the inside finishing, and then the Manes' will move into it. Their home was destroyed by fire a few weeks ago.

Ed Browning has the interior of his business building, spic and span with new paint and varnish. Even before he went over it this last time, it had a very neat appearance but now with the ceiling newly painted and all the shelving and wood work inside varnished. Henry Browning did the painting and varnishing.

Both the Republican and Democratic caucuses will be held for the township this week Saturday. At this time candidates for the various township offices will be chosen. There seems to be no interest in any of the offices except that of collector. There will be three aspirants before the Democratic caucus, and two before the Republican caucus. The Democrats will hold their caucus in the Armory building, and the Republicans will hold theirs at the Miller Tire shop.

The boys basketball team of our high school have won twelve trophies, four this present year. The last one was won at the tournament held at Ravenwood on February 19. It was a silver loving cup. It was presented to the school last Tuesday morning at the assembly hour. The trophy case is far too small to hold all the trophies to date, and some other provision will have to be made in order that they may be properly cared for.

Misses Etta and Georgia Trusty, who are students at the Northwest State Teachers College, at Maryville, spent several days last week at the home of their father, Dr. G. C. Trusty. They returned to school again this week. Miss Etta will soon finish her course, and receive a degree from the College. Her many friends here are congratulating her on her success.

L. E. Miller who has been sick for the past few weeks, has so far convalesced as to be about the house most of the time, and can occasionally walk out in the yard and garden. This will be glad news to his numerous friends and business associates, who will be glad to see him at his desk at work again.

George Alexander who lives on a farm in Southern Iowa, south of Clarinda, was in town Monday of this week, shaking hands with his many friends. George formerly lived in this community and is always a welcome visitor.

O. M. Grissinger, and family, have gone on a farm near Rock Port, having moved to their new location last week. He has been in the battery business for the past two years here, and now has decided to try farming for a time. He with his family made many friends while living here, who regret his going away.

Should Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Graves live until April the 7th they will have been married thirty happy years. In anticipation of that event, Mr. Graves surprised his wife with a fine upholstered parlor set and a complete dining room suite. Mr. Grave is one of the rural mail carriers from the Burlington Junction postoffice, beside personally overseeing a large farm four miles southwest of town. Mr. and Mrs. Graves are the parents of three children, who are Miles Graves, and Rachel Graves of Burlington Junction, and Harold Graves, of Chicago. They have lived all their lives in and around Burlington Junction.

Miss Frieda Crouse, one of the teachers in our grade school, and whose home is in Mound City, spent the week end with her parents in her home town. Miss Martin, her room mate and also one of the grade teachers, accompanied her. They returned to their school duties, Sunday night.

The Rev. A. L. Ragsdale gave a study on missionary India in his service Sunday night. While the muddy condition of the roads kept many of the country people away, the people in town responded in a very fine way. He used the steriopticon, and showed seventy pictures on missionary India, in reference to the work being done there by the Christian church. That was the fourth night of the series. He will continue at least two Sunday nights more.

Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Reavis, entertained their grandson for several days last week. The laddie is only a few months old, and yet so wide awake as to give the grandparents plenty to do to keep even with him. They returned him to his parents in Guilford, Mo., after a week.

Gallatin Banker Is Arrested in Colorado

Dr. R. V. Thompson, Former Cashier of Defunct Institution, to Answer Grand Jury Charges.

From the Gallatin Democrat.

Dr. R. V. Thompson, former cashier of the Farmers Exchange Bank of Gallatin, closed March 4, 1926, was arrested in Eagle, Colo., Saturday by a detective of the Burns agency. Dr. Thompson is wanted here on seven charges as the result of grand jury indictments. Five of the indictments charge receiving deposits when the bank was in a failing condition, one of embezzlement and another of a false entry. A few days after the bank was closed Dr. Thompson left Gallatin and his whereabouts have been unknown.

Sheriff B. B. Houghton left Gallatin yesterday afternoon for Glenwood Springs, Colo., and will return with Dr. Thompson, reaching here either Thursday night or Friday noon.

Dr. Thompson was arrested at Eagle, Colo., where it is said he had located for the practice of medicine. He was taken from Eagle to Glenwood Springs and placed in jail. According to advices received here Dr. Thompson first said he would fight extradition, but later decided to waive extradition, return here and tell his story of the closed bank's affairs.

Obviously there have been many stories afloat concerning Dr. Thompson's departure and whereabouts, and since his arrest, it is said he has been in both Kansas City and St. Joseph, but spending the major portion of his time in Colorado.

Mr. Buchanon while here interviewed Fay Woodson Null of the Harmony district, who helped Hamilton, and two men who escaped, when the car became mired in a mud hole near his father's farm. Mr. Buchanon returned to Kansas City this afternoon.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, March 16.—Wheat prices dipped a little early on the weak cables but rallied later on good commission house buying and short covering, closing with good gains for the day. The cash demand here was small and prices ½ cent higher. Receipts were small in the Southwest, Kansas City having 54 cars.

A decisive falling off of receipts, together with local shipments yesterday of 285,000 bushels, caused a bullish sentiment in the corn pit, and prices closed considerably higher. Receipts here were 40 cars. The cash market was ½ cent higher.

Oats advanced fractionally with other grains. Receipts were 31 cars. The cash market was steady.

Provisions closed lower.

SECOND GAME LESS SNAPPY

BEARCATS SLOW TO GET GOING AGAINST COMARS.

FINISH 'UNDER WRAPS'

Victory Yesterday Indicates S. T. C. Basketeers Are Better Than College Union Champs.

The State Teachers College Bearcats, having entered the third round of the national A. A. U. basketball tournament at Kansas City, will meet their third test at 6 o'clock tonight in a game with the Emporia Teachers of Emporia, Kansas.

Final results of the game will be flashed to the Democrat Forum and Tribune.

The drive and aggressive play which featured the first appearance of the Maryville State Teachers College Bearcats in the national A. A. U. basketball tournament in Kansas City was lacking in their second game, according to the sport writers for the Kansas City newspapers.

The Bearcats won a second round game yesterday from the Comar Oilers of Tonkawa, Okla., but the victory was said to be minus the sparkle which featured the first round triumph over the Kimberly-Clark team of Kimberly, Wis.

The Journal's comment follows:

Ungles Adds Ginger.

"This struggle was preceded by a battle in which Maryville Teachers subdued the Comar Oilers of Tonkawa, Okla., 40-26. The game for a time bore the earmarks of an interesting struggle but Maryville got lined out after a period of listlessness and pulled up under wraps.

"The drive and aggressive play of its forwards that featured its initial tournament triumph, was lacking throughout the first half, but Ungles was inserted after intermission and seemed to install new life and ginger in the crew.

"After pulling itself together it proceeded to pull away from the Oilers. Displaying the fine team work that marked its progress through the first round it is difficult to single out any star of stars on the Maryville club. Four forwards were used and all are capable, while Burks, center, and Berst and Joy, guards, gave another superb passing exhibition."

Better Than Westminster.

Tht Star's account:

"The same team from Tonkawa, Okla., which had the audacity to eliminate the Westminster Bluejays, battled for a half with the Maryville Teachers and then, lacking the weight and experience, succumbed.

"Comar was able to emerge a winner over Westminster, and the comparison would indicate Maryville has the better team of the two Missouri champions.

"This game was singularly listless, following as it did a string of vicious-pitched battles. The Teachers peeked away at the iron hoop with no enthusing success early in the fray and the Oklahomans made the most of their chances. At one time they led, 12 to 7, and by rigid guarding kept Maryville's offense from doing much of anything.

"Suddenly the spurt came, and before Maryville had finished the visitors from the South were overtaken and passed.

"Comar was outweighed but not outfought. It strove valiantly to stem the tide in the last period, but had no success once the shifty Ungles and Connor began hitting. These two carried the burden in the last period, while Hedges and Barks did the scoring in the first session."

Ivanhoe To Defeat.

The most startling upset of the tournament occurred last night when a diminutive team from Chicago, the Calumet Council club, eliminated the strong Ivanhoe Club of Kansas City, 25-13.

The Kansas City team had been expected to go to the semi-finals at least, on the basis of an enviable record this season, including victories over both the K. C. A. C. and the C. C. C., other Kansas City contenders.

The Midget Chicago players were said to make up for lack of height and weight with sizzling speed and chain lightning passing, which made the Masonic quintet appear clumsy in contrast.

Another upset was the defeat of the Catholic Community Club of Kansas City by the Canton, Ill., Legion team, 28-21. This leaves Kansas City with but one representative in the remaining rounds of the tournament, the Kansas City Athletic Club.

Other second round results yesterday and last night were.

Sixteen Teams Will Compete at Columbia

State Contests Held Under Auspices of the Missouri State High School Athletic Association.

Columbia, March 16.—Sixteen Missouri high school basketball teams will compete in the state high school basketball championship series, to be held at the University of Missouri in Columbia March 18 and 19. Every section of the state will be represented in the tourney, which will include both a championship and consolation series, deciding first, second, third and fourth places in the state.

The tournament will be held under the auspices of the Missouri State High School Athletic Association. The University of Missouri will give numerous awards to the winning teams. A mounted silver basketball of regulation size will be given for second place, while still smaller basketballs will be the trophies for third and fourth places. Eight solid gold miniature basketball fobs will be given the individual members of the winning team. Eight sterling silver miniature basketball fobs will be given to each of the teams finishing second, third and fourth in the tournament so that both the individuals and the schools finishing in the first four places will be awarded with suitable trophies emblematic of the state championship final series.

H. V. Millard, of Decatur, Ill., one of the best officials in the West, will be chief of a staff of experienced and competentarbiters, carefully selected for their neutrality in relation to the teams in the tournament.

The authorities of the National Interscholastic Basketball tournament, to be held at the University of Chicago, March 29 to April 2, have invited the winner of the tournament to participate in that event.

Northwest Missouri will be represented by Pickering, Carrollton and Central High of St. Joseph.

Kansas City DeMoley Champs Beaten Here

Today's Kansas City Journal carries a picture of the Heart of America basketball team, champion of the Kansas City DeMolay League, with a proud record of twelve wins and no defeats.

"Their only setbacks," it is stated, "were suffered in non-league competition at the hands of the Emporia Teachers and the Maryville Teachers."

It was Maryville High School and not the State Teachers College that defeated the Heart of America team, and the line-up used here was the same as that used by the Kansas Citians in all their regular games.

Comar Oilers a Team of High School Boys

Conquerers Of Westminster, Defeated By Maryville, Intend To Go To College Together.

The Comar Oils, basketball team from Tonkawa, Okla., who defeated Westminster, Missouri College Union champions, and then gave the Maryville Bearcats a battle, in the national A. A. U. tournament at Kansas City—are high school boys.
